

4th Annual
William Bartram Day
March 5, 2016
9am-4pm

Hello Hawthorne Area folks! It is time to start planning for the 4th Annual William Bartram Day at Little Orange Creek Nature Park in Hawthorne. Exciting things are happening in preparation for the official opening of the park in late Spring 2016. This is a long awaited event and will allow us to start our educational programs for kids and adults, rent the facility/grounds for weddings and other events which will give us revenue for our programs. We hope that you will come out and join us March 5th as a vendor and help support us. We are looking for:

- Any Vendors selling their home crafted wares - $15 booth fee
 - Plants, natives and others, landscape, herbs, veggies $15 booth fee
 - Businesses and churches - advertising their 'business' - no fee
 - Demonstrators of old time way of doing things -no fee
- booths will be 12x12, if you need more space, please advise

What will be at the event:

William Bartram roaming and talking with people. At noon he will give a talk to all which is extremely interesting and great for kids.

Other events to be announced.

We are encouraging ALL local businesses, churches and Chamber Members to have a table "advertising" your particular business. We would also like you to think about having a small game or craft for kids to do. An example - the Episcopal Church will be offering pine cone bird feeders for the kids to make. The park is all about educating our kids about nature and the environment. This will also bring people to your booth. There is no charge for a business table but of course a donation will be accepted! Remember - if the park succeeds, we all succeed!

All proceeds will be put right back into the park. We hope that you will add this event to your Spring Calendar (MARCH 5TH). This is a time for the Hawthorne Area Community to come together and work for a common goal. Hope to see ALL of you there.

Thank you.
